There can be nothing more frustrating than really trying to find a good guy - potentially Mr. Right - but continuously stumbling across those kind of men that are nothing like the man you are looking for. Why do women have to endure all these jerks and losers? Why do they have to put up with a seemingly never ending load of idiots, douche bags, a**holes, mama's boys, and players before they even find someone remotely close to what they were envisioning? No doubt, that dating can be quite discouraging at times and many give up in the process and end up becoming completely passive in hope love will knock on their door some day. However, being proactive is essential(!) but the key is to have the right system in place. The right system to find Mr. Right, Prince Charming. This is what this book is about.

"No matter how love-sick a woman is, she shouldn't take the first pill that comes along." - Joyce Brothers

This book contains the proven methods and strategies to find Mr. Right. There are many fish in the sea, but girls, you have to weed out the ones that suck right from the get go, so you can get to the goal before you die of a heat stroke, metaphorically speaking. The book is written from a men's perspective, simply because men know men. Makes sense, right? We know how a**holes and douchebags operate, what questions to ask to expose losers and mama's boys, and we know what we classify as acceptable lady behaviour which is important to know because you don't want to scare away the right one when he's standing in front of you. This truly might be a fresh perspective for all the women out there that are seeking Mr. Right.
