Preparing for the Occupational Therapy National Board Exam: 45 Days and Counting, Second Edition is a comprehensive overview for occupational therapist students preparing to take the National Board for Certification in Occupational Therapy (NBCOT) exam. It utilizes a well-received health and wellness focus and includes tips and self-assessment forms to develop effective study habits. Unlike other OT examination review guides, Preparing for the Occupational Therapy National Board Exam: 45 Days and Counting, Second Edition chooses to provide a more structured and holistic approach, including a detailed calendar and plan of study for the 45 days leading up to the exam. The Second Edition incorporates chapter outlines on subject matter students have learned throughout their occupational therapy curricula. These curricula draw from a lexicon taken from the Occupational Therapy Framework III (AOTA, 2014), so the language is consistent between the book and the students' academic experience. Like the First Edition, each chapter in the Second Edition is divided into subjects and each subject address the four domain areas according to the NBCOT examination. Additionally, workbook pages throughout each chapter include specific references used in occupational therapy curricula throughout the United States enabling additional exploration of content that is challenging or unfamiliar or both. The outline format used in the First Edition was advanced to include all needed OT study content, in addition to self-study activities with answers provided at the end of each chapter. A journaling section includes 3-4 questions with a reflective learning approach used in service learning, where students will learn individual areas to focus on and prioritize. Test taking strategies, meaningful activities to do prior to, and directly after the exam, will also be presented. A unique section of the review guide includes information on what to do if a repeat examination is necessary along with advice from a previous student that outlines their experience and advice. The editors of this edition have the experience and credentials needed to ensure a structured, organized, and effective approach to review a large amount of material in a reasonable amount of time. Dr. Rosanne DiZazzo-Miller has been assisting students from across the country for many years on preparing for the board exam, while Dr. Fredrick Pociask has expertise in instructional design and delivery. Furthermore, all practice question content was reviewed and edited by our Item Writing Specialist – Dr. Sara Maher – who is a well-known and respected item-writer in health-science education. This ensures that students will be provided with continuous examples of NBCOT® style questions. For Educators and Academic Programs The Second Edition includes convenient online access to instructor materials including the following: • Classroom worksheets and study questions • Laboratory guides and learning activities • PowerPoint® presentations for each chapter More than a study guide, this book can provide a course-ready capstone in addition to the resources and activities already incorporated into the text. Utilize this comprehensive resource in your program to help students study for the NBCOT exam in preparation for a high pass rate in addition to or in place of current methods.
